This document, website, and all associated content do NOT constitute financial advice, investment advice, legal advice, or tax advice. The METERO developers, contributors, and maintainers assume no responsibility for any financial decisions or losses incurred by users.

The METERO token is not a security, investment contract, financial instrument, commodity, or any regulated product under U.S. federal law, including but not limited to:

- The Securities Act of 1933
- The Securities Exchange Act of 1934
- The Investment Company Act of 1940
- The Howey Test and related SEC guidelines

Nothing in this document establishes or implies a promise of profit, returns, dividends, or appreciation in value. Users should NOT expect financial gain based on the efforts of the METERO team.

The METERO token is a decentralized digital asset, whose price, liquidity, and market behavior are determined solely by public markets and independent participants. The METERO team does not control, influence, or manipulate price discovery.

By interacting with the METERO protocol, the user acknowledges that they do so voluntarily, at their own risk, and with full personal responsibility.

The METERO team:

- does not hold, manage, or control user funds
- does not provide custody services
- cannot modify, reverse, or cancel blockchain transactions

- does not offer any guarantees of value or performance
- is not liable for market volatility, trading losses, or economic damages
- is not responsible for bugs, exploits, smart-contract vulnerabilities, or network failures

All software and smart contracts are provided “AS IS,” without warranties of any kind, either expressed or implied, including but not limited to warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, non-infringement, performance, or future maintenance.

By using METERO, the user agrees that the developers, contributors, and community members shall under no circumstances be held liable for:

- direct or indirect losses
- incidental or consequential damages
- lost profits
- data loss
- market crashes
- liquidity failures
- project delays, changes, or discontinuation

The user is solely responsible for:

- understanding the risks of blockchain technology
- securing their private keys and wallets
- complying with local laws and regulations
- evaluating the suitability of METERO for their own use

Use of the METERO protocol signifies full acceptance of this disclaimer and all associated risks.
